SYNAESTHESIA

Searching for ciphers to interpret one's senses Fashioning sinews of shadow and sound from tastes and smells that capture emotion while memories are put away in flasks marked poison

To embody an emergent new synaesthesia

Feelings march patternless through doorways of laughter In seeming mayhem and utter disarray with tastes and smells that capture emotion and memories are put away in flasks marked poison

To embody an emergent new synaesthesia

The taste of lies, the sound of forgetting as reason takes flight unconfined by horizons

To embody an emergent new synaesthesia

Wistfulness seen in one's mind as a palace built from phlogiston and luminiferous aether Hate imagined as feathery whispers painted in colors from no known spectrum

To embody an emergent new synaesthesia

Breathing pain to each other in poems from imaginary languages written in fire, they long to become real by means of lying embodying an emergent new synaesthesia

The smell of evasion all through our bloodstreams the sunlight of sadness meandering naked As heretics, we feed self-righteously on mists of paranoia while dancing madness into being with incantations of steel

Flying blind we head for home sweet rat-holes where at last we can bathe in soothing revulsion

Your grief now forms an inscribed glyph, a would-be message but yet undecipherable For meanings transform into clouds of hysteria with none to interpret the cacophony of senses

*The sound of shadows, the smell of feelings, the color of voices, the taste of delusions,
The smell of feelings, the color of voices, the sound of shadows, the texture of despair*

*To make cease this dreaded synaesthesia
To make cease this dreaded synaesthesia*

*Thus descends the darkness of mayhem to dance unfettered by the iniquities of reason Cruel synaesthesia's had its way with me,
cruel synaesthesia's had its way with me,*
